

Brought to you by the U.S. Department of State, the National Park Service, and the Smithsonian Institution, partners in the Inter-Agency Initiative on Learning. Supported by the American Library Association, the National Council for the Social Studies, and the National Council of Teachers of English.

Test Your
Diplomacy I.Q.
→

Discover the real people, places, and pivotal moments behind history and headlines. Build student skills in critical thinking, problem solving, and negotiation. Make history real and relevant.

Register now for the online conference that will address: What is diplomacy? How do presidents, statesmen, and ordinary people practice it? What factors matter in successful negotiations?

Wednesday, Feb. 12, 2014

10:00–10:50 AM, EST
Practicing Diplomacy from Early America to the Present
Diplomatic Reception Rooms,
U.S. Department of State

1:00–1:50 PM, EST
Places of Negotiation
National Park Service

4:00–4:50 PM, EST
Changing America and the People behind a Movement
National Museum of American History,
Smithsonian Institution

Sign up for project-based learning activities related to the sessions and earn a digital badge through Smithsonian Quests™ (SmithsonianQuests.org). Exemplary student work will be showcased in online conference sessions.

DIPLOMACY IN ACTION

An interactive online conference series and project-based learning activities for middle and high school classrooms

SmithsonianEducationConferences.org/Diplomacy

Visit for more information, registration, related resources, closed captioning, and archives for replay at any time.

DIplomacy IN ACTION

An interactive online conference series and project-based learning activities for middle and high school classrooms

SmithsonianEducationConferences.org/Diplomacy

Visit for puzzle answers, more information, registration, related resources, closed captioning, and archives for replay at any time.

History is often made by acts of diplomacy, carried out not only by envoys and ambassadors, but also by heads of state, legislators, political activists, and ordinary citizens. The online conference, "Diplomacy in Action," will take students inside the Diplomatic Reception Rooms of the U.S. Department of State and to National Park Service sites that commemorate those who resolved conflict through diplomacy. Explore pivotal moments of the past with the Smithsonian!

Try this crossword puzzle to test your knowledge of U.S. diplomatic history and to discover some of the places you'll go and some of the people you'll meet in "Diplomacy in Action."

Across

- 1 At issue in 18th century "opening of China"
- 3 U.S.-Soviet relationship after WWII: ____ War
- 7 U.S. ally in Revolution
- 8 He named Camp David after grandson David
- 9 Foggy ____, informal name for State Dept.
- 10 Father or son, both diplomats, both presidents
- 13 N.Y. home of FDR and Eleanor, First Lady and first chair of UN Human Rights Commission
- 15 Egyptian president of 1978 Camp David Accords
- 16 Israeli prime minister of Camp David Accords
- 17 Word sharing Greek root with diploma, the root meaning "sealed document"

- 20 Substance used to "seal the deal," traditionally
- 21 Make a treaty official
- 22 Site of War of 1812 treaty

Down

- 1 Negotiated agreement
- 2 19th century U.S. policy toward China: Open ____
- 4 Easing of tension between nations
- 5 Meeting of world leaders
- 6 Pa. site of Civil War battle and Cold War peace talks between Khrushchev and 8 Across
- 7 First U.S. ambassador to France

- 11 Sec. of State during War of 1812, later a "doctrinaire" president
- 12 President who presided over Camp David Accords
- 14 Colorful name for 19th century U.S.-British dispute in Northwest, settled by Kaiser Wilhelm I
- 18 Org. of North Atlantic treaty signers, for short
- 19 Sec. of Foreign Affairs during Revolution, later Supreme Court chief justice