U.S. Public Diplomacy in the Europe and Eurasia Region

U.S. PUBLIC DIPLOMACY IN THE EUROPE AND EURASIA REGION

U.S. public diplomacy efforts in Europe focus on strengthening relationships with some of America’s closest allies and the region’s 740 million people. Although Europe enjoys a high level of connectivity with 120 mobile phones per 100 members of the population, and roughly 63.2 percent internet penetration, many countries of the former Soviet Union grapple with a digital skills deficit. Europe’s record on media freedom is a complex picture: Western Europe, Scandinavia and the Baltic States have some of the freest media in the world, while the press in the Balkans and many former Soviet states, such as Hungary, Ukraine and Moldova, operates with partial freedom. Russian, Belarusian and Azerbaijani media are not free. Media credibility is a challenge in a number of countries, such as Bulgaria and Romania, where corrupt actors—both foreign and domestic—dominate ownership and manipulate the information space. The favorability rating for the United States in the region based on the latest figures in the Pew Global Indicators Database remains above 50 percent, with the exception of Greece (34 percent) and Russia (15 percent). Favorability in Germany is at 50 percent.

With 49 U.S. missions in the region, public diplomacy expenditures in Europe amounted to almost $67 million, with the most going to Germany ($6.251 million) and Russia ($4.727 million). Ukraine received almost $1.5 million in additional public diplomacy funding for specific programs, totaling over $3 million.

Over the last two years, the main challenges for U.S. public diplomacy in Europe have included supporting Ukraine and addressing the Kremlin’s propaganda and aggressive use of influence levers across the political, economic, social and information arenas to promote an anti-Western agenda throughout the Russian periphery and, to a degree, throughout Europe. Russia spends more than $500 million a year to support an international media infrastructure that sows disinformation, mistruths and counter-narratives about the European Union and the United States in order to undermine EU and NATO cohesion and halt further integration into Euro-Atlantic institutions. U.S. engagement to counter Moscow’s disinformation campaign involves using public diplomacy resources strategically to support independent, credible media; strengthen pro-democracy civil society groups; and convey policy messages to key audiences. The United States works with a broad array of partners in this strategic outreach, including multilateral institutions, allied governments, non-governmental organizations and the Broadcasting Board of Governors (See: International Broadcasting in Europe).

Efforts to counter violent extremism (CVE) also remain critical given the active recruitment of European foreign fighters by the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant (ISIL or Daesh). For example, U.S. missions in Europe support a variety of public diplomacy programs through which European audiences, including vulnerable youth in CVE-focus countries (Albania, Belgium, Bosnia & Herzegovina, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy, Kosovo, Macedonia, the Netherlands, Norway, Serbia, Spain, Sweden, Turkey and the United Kingdom), address how to reduce conditions that give rise to extremist views in their communities. Moreover, public diplomacy programs provide the European public with platforms to youth unemployment.

Engagement with the European public on challenging social and economic problems, like those brought on by the global refugee crisis, is also essential. The 2015 surge in migration into Europe threatened the political cohesion of the EU and drained national resources away from other priorities. U.S. missions in Europe promote the integration of immigrant communities through innovative public diplomacy programs to convene, connect and empower key stakeholders and put out positive narratives.

U.S. FOREIGN POLICY GOALS

In 2015, U.S. foreign policy priorities in Europe were the same as 2014. They included: 1) continue to work for a Europe whole, free and at peace; 2) strengthen NATO in support of a strong global security community; 3) negotiate the Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership (TTIP), which promotes economic openness and growth, and invest in European entrepreneurship; 4) defend and advance universal values, democracy and human rights where they are threatened; and 5) cooperate with Russia in areas of mutual interest while holding Russia accountable for its aggression in Ukraine.

U.S. PUBLIC DIPLOMACY GOALS

The Bureau of European and Eurasian Affairs (EUR) and U.S. missions in Europe aim to maintain a policy-focused approach to public diplomacy programs to contribute to the above goals for the region. In addition to advancing the vision of a Europe that is whole, free and at peace—and deepening vital cultural and educational ties—U.S. public diplomacy in Europe prioritizes foreign public engagement to combat Russian disinformation and propaganda; promote the U.S. Ukraine and Syria policies; support European allies and partners addressing the integration challenges involved in absorbing massive flows of migrants and asylum seekers; counter violent extremism; and promote ongoing TTIP negotiations and other opportunities to boost trade. U.S. public diplomacy in Europe also supports targeted action plans in 23 countries in Central, Eastern and Southeastern Europe to strategically fight corruption, as it threatens not only democratic institutions and economic growth, but also regional security.

There are U.S. and locally employed staff at 72 U.S. embassies and consulates in Europe. Primary public diplomacy outreach includes educational advising and youth engagement, with the 182 American Spaces (libraries, cultural centers and information resource centers) in the region often serving as conveners. Academic and professional exchange programs play a crucial role in engaging foreign audiences and building long-term relationships. The Fulbright Program and the International Visitor and Leadership Program (IVLP) remain popular, prestigious U.S. exchanges that are sought after by academics, students and emerging leaders in the region. Other short-term and long-term exchange programs, such as the Professional Fellows Program and the Humphrey Fellowship Program, are equally important in reaching a diverse audience and addressing key European themes in the region, such as youth entrepreneurship. In addition, the U.S. Speakers and cultural programs aim to deepen the European public's understanding of American culture, values and society.

According to Open Doors Data, the majority of European students who studied in the United States in 2015 were from the United Kingdom (10,743), followed by Turkey (10,724), Germany (10,193), France (8,743), Spain (6,143), Russia (5,562), Italy (4,863), Sweden (4,507), Norway (2,498) and the Netherlands (2,257). Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Denmark, Greece, Ireland, Poland, Romania, Switzerland and Ukraine all had more than 1,000 students studying in the United States.

U.S. PUBLIC DIPLOMACY SPENDING IN FY 2015

The top five, most-funded PD missions in Europe were Germany ($6.467 million), Russia ($4.947 million), France ($3.831 million), Turkey ($3.642 million) and Italy ($3.586 million). Ukraine was funded with $3.150.

Traditional public diplomacy programs continue to play a central role in the Bureau of European and Eurasian Affairs’ (EUR) engagement overseas. These include culture, sports, civil society, democracy, good governance, English and education. Throughout 2015, public diplomacy programs also focused on engaging foreign audiences on policy issues, including countering violent extremism, supporting the integration of migrants and refugees, advancing TTIP negotiations, promoting entrepreneurship and countering Russian propaganda.

Several PD programs were created at the end of fiscal year 2015 to address the rapidly escalating migration crisis in Europe and these programs will continue to be a focus of 2016 programming.

Under Secretary Stengel dedicated resources to increase awareness of the migration crisis through public diplomacy programming, which included working closely with European NGOs, increased outreach to European officials for the exchange of best practices, as well as English-language programming. EUR's public diplomacy team worked closely with ECA and IIP to coordinate programming, which resulted in numerous IVLP, Professional Fellows, Fulbright Scholars, and U.S. Speakers focused on this important priority.

SAMPLE PUBLIC DIPLOMACY PROGRAMS

PD programs in 2015 included post-led outreach working with the Ukrainian Ministry of Education to support public sector reforms; supporting education in key countries through the English Access Microscholarship Program (Access) and other post-funded programs that provide training for communicators; fostering entrepreneurship and innovation through programs such as R-BEST, implementing a private-sector internship program for Russian entrepreneurs; and increasing Maker Space programming at American Spaces. Additional focal points for public diplomacy programs included working with partner governments and civil society to network, train and support digital communicators via tailored opportunities, such as TechCamps. Below are some feature programs:

Young Transatlantic Innovation Leaders Initiative (YTILI): This important economic initiative strengthens the transatlantic relationship, develops sustainable partnerships between young U.S. and European innovators, promotes regional integration and cooperation in Europe, and encourages European governments, businesses, and civil society to improve their innovation eco-systems. The first class of YTILI fellows, 50 young entrepreneurs from throughout Europe, participated in a three-week fellowship culminating in the Global Entrepreneurship Summit (GES) in Silicon Valley in June. President Obama announced the launch of this initiative at GES, which falls under the White House Young Leaders programs alongside YALI, YLAI and YSEALI. Going forward in fiscal year 2017, EUR will award a grant to expand this initiative by launching a second round of YTILI fellows and other regional programs along with a robust online network--scaling up this successful program. This activity directly supports the Department’s strategic goal to strengthen America’s economic reach and positive economic impact, expand access to future markets, investment, and trade, and promote inclusive economic growth, entrepreneurship and innovation.

The Baltics – Investigative Journalism Program: The U.S. embassies in Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia launched a 12-month innovative, multi-phased investigative journalism training program for early and mid-career journalists working in the Baltic States who report in local languages or Russian. Media organizations in all three countries need the skills and tools to produce fact-based, credible news reporting. The goal of the program is to build a more mature, proactive 21st century media landscape in the three Baltic States.

Ukraine – Academic Integrity Program: A significant priority is to support Ukraine’s ambitious effort to reform its institutions to increase transparency in governance, reduce corruption, enhance democracy and strengthen its economy while pursuing greater integration with Western institutions. This program directly engages university undergraduate students to educate themselves and their peers about the principles of academic integrity through participatory activities such as conferences, performances, workshops, roundtables, role plays, public debates, promotional activities, development of web materials, community service projects, opinion polling, media engagement and other forms of public advocacy. The program also encourages the students to create institutional change by creating honor codes and honor councils. The program is administered with the support of Ukraine’s Ministry of Education and Science.

Languages: Albanian, Armenian, Avar, Azerbaijani, Bashkir, Belarusian, Chechen, Circassian, Crimean Tatar, Georgian, Romanian, Russian, Tatar, Ukrainian

RFE/RL’s Radio Svoboda (Language: Russian)

FY 2015: $6.896 million ($7.496 million with program delivery)

Origin: 1953
Delivery Method: Radio (SW, MW, satellite), Website and Mobile Site, Social Media, Mobile App
Radio Original Programming: 48 hours/week
Radio Total Broadcast: 168 hours/week via internet; 105 hours/week via SW

RFE/RL’s Russian Service, Radio Svoboda, delivers professional news on Russia and the region. Due to political pressure within Russia, RFE/RL is restricted from local radio and TV rebroadcasting and therefore focuses on digital distribution platforms. Radio Svoboda has historically been a trusted source of balanced information about political, social, civic, cultural and human rights issues that are unreported or under-reported in Russia. It has also provided a forum where discussion and debate on these issues can take place. With this enduring mission, the service is focused on producing a range of integrated multimedia content—audio, video and social media—that connects target audiences across Russia and enhances the impact of its journalism. The service provides in-depth public discussion and facilitates the flow of information between different national regions and social strata by producing regionally based content, a variety of discussion shows and highly engaging foreign coverage. Sample programs include: “Face the Event,” which is a live talk show on the main news event of the day, and “Signs of Life,” the service’s short-form documentary program, which focuses on pressing current events within Russian society.

In mid-October 2014, with resource support from the State Department, RFE/RL together with VOA launched “Current Time,” a daily, 30-minute Russian-language television news program that targets Russian-speaking audiences in countries in Russia’s periphery. Its purpose is to provide a compelling, balanced alternative to the disinformation produced by Russian media outlets that is driving conflict in the region. “Current Time” draws upon an extensive network of reporters across the region and the top-notch production teams of RFE/RL in Prague and VOA in Washington, D.C. The daily program airs Monday through Friday and presents live, front-line news coverage, interviews, original features and political satire in a format enhanced by cutting-edge digital techniques and graphics. “Current Time” was expanded in May 2015 with the launch of weekend editions of the program, with VOA hosting the Saturday program and RFE/RL hosting the Sunday version. “Current Time” is carried by 25 affiliates in nine countries, reaching audiences on domestic television stations throughout the Russian periphery. In September 2015, RFE/RL started producing a version of “Current Time” for the Central Asian market, which airs on domestic stations in Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan and Kazakhstan. RFE/RL is currently developing a “Current Time” satellite stream in Russian that will be available on the Hotbird 13 satellite and online. The channel will offer daily live newscasts and up to 6–8 hours of original programming, including programming from RFE/RL, VOA and affiliates, plus acquired and commissioned content. At the end of fiscal year 2015, RFE/RL launched a digital media team (DIGIM) to drive social-media reporting and engagement within the “Current Time” brand in the digital space. DIGIM includes four operational units (all Russian-language focused), including social media, mobile video, and satire.

RFE/RL’s Balkan Service promotes a civil society that defines people by their actions and beliefs, not by ethnicity. By giving voice to minorities and promoting individual... opinions, the service helps to build trust among people in the region and contributes to stability in the Balkans. The Balkan Service also works to unmask Russian disinformation in order to help counterbalance the growing political and economic influence of Russia in the Balkans. More than 150 affiliate stations broadcast the service's programming. In addition to daily shows targeting the individual markets in Bosnia, Kosovo, Macedonia, Montenegro and Serbia, the Balkan Service has a daily 30-minute regional show through affiliates in Bosnia, Montenegro and Serbia, focusing on stories of regional interest. The service also provides critical coverage on breaking news events, including the ongoing refugee crisis and ISIL's recruitment of foreign fighters in the region.

RFE/RL’s Ukrainian Service, Radio Svoboda, delivers professional reporting on every available platform to serve the public interest in Ukraine. The service’s reporting serves Ukraine’s three distinct media markets: the greater territory of Ukraine, illegally annexed Crimea and territories controlled by pro-Russian separatists in eastern Ukraine. Radio Svoboda provides a platform for open, pluralistic voices. Svoboda’s anti-corruption reporting, including the “Schemes” TV product, spotlights corruption and holds officials accountable. The service partners with numerous TV and radio affiliates in the country. On the radio, national affiliate Era FM carries the agenda-setting “Morning Liberty” in the morning and the analytical “Liberty Today” program in the evening, along with thematic programs “EuropeConnect” on EU-Ukraine relations, “We Together” on regional issues, and “YouthPlus.” In addition to its popular website Krymr.org, in 2015 and 2016 the service launched new radio products for the annexed and separatist-controlled territories in Crimea and Donbas, as well as a project “Letters from the occupied Donbas,” which encourages citizen journalism in the area and gives a voice to the voiceless.

The Georgian Service delivers professional news to the Georgian people via television, radio and the internet. As a trusted surrogate broadcaster, the service plays a critical role in the Georgian market by acting as a bridge between people and the news. In December 2015, the service launched “Interview,” a new weekly TV show in conjunction with the Georgian Public Broadcaster (GPB), consisting of in-depth, 30-minute-long interviews asking hard-hitting questions to politicians, newsmakers and academics in Georgia and abroad. On radio, the service airs a wide array of programming focused on news, current affairs and cultural issues. In the digital sphere, the
In a country where the government controls the flow of information, Azadliq is viewed as the only remaining source of uncensored and balanced news. By being objective and balanced, the service provides a credible and influential alternative to official media and serves as a role model for young journalists and independent journalism. At the end of 2014, Azerbaijani authorities arrested RFE/RL contributor Khadija Ismayilova following her extensive reporting on high-level corruption connected to the president’s family and raided and shut down RFE/RL’s Baku bureau. In September 2015, Ismayilova was sentenced to 7.5 years in prison after being convicted on charges that rights groups have called retribution for her reporting. Current and former bureau staff have been continuously harassed, threatened and interrogated by authorities. Nevertheless, the service has invested in expanding its digital products and has increased audience engagement in the past year. Sample programs include: “AzadliqLive,” a current events show; “Azadliq on Hotbird,” a daily news program with video reports from Baku and international stories; and “Hotline,” which addresses listeners’ social and legal problems and connects them with lawyers and officials.

The Kyrgyz Service connects Kyrgyzstani society with informed reporting and debate on topics ignored or collectively neglected in Kyrgyzstan, such as interethnic tolerance, minority rights, abuse and torture within the justice system, Islamic radicalism and corruption in the government. In light of the dominance of Russian media in the country promoting the Kremlin’s version of domestic and foreign policy, as well as the rising influence of radical Islam in society, the Kyrgyz Service has retained its position of being a trustworthy, balanced, in-depth journalistic organization providing audiences with unbiased and factual reporting in the face of misinformation. Sample programs include: “Inconvenient Questions,” a political talk show which was rated the third most popular TV program in Kyrgyzstan in a January 2015 study by Global Media; and the youth-oriented program discussing the rights of different social groups and minorities “Azatky4,” which explores ethnic, cultural and religious diversity, tolerance and openness to other countries and cultures, and achievements and problems of young people in Kyrgyzstan and abroad.

RFE/RL’s Moldovan Service provides credible and impartial information and analysis, as well as a forum for debate and analysis on major themes related to Moldova, the region and the world. The service promotes free speech, respect of human rights and of minorities, and democratic values. It is the only Western international media available on Moldovan radio with programs designed to serve the Moldovan audience. The Moldovan Service produces a 10-minute, weekday television program called “Clear and Simple,” which airs first in Romanian and then is dubbed into Russian on the national public TV channel Moldova 1. Other TV projects include roundtable discussions, shows on political and social issues in the country and talk shows. In addition to its standard daily radio news programs, the service also offers special radio programs, in Romanian and Russian, to the separatist region of Transdniester, which are designed to build bridges between peoples living in a divided society. The service also features multimedia content online, including “May Moldova,” an exploration of the country as a multiethnic society.
RFE/RL RADIO AZATUTYUN (LANGUAGE: ARMENIAN)

FY 2015: $1.659 million ($1.659 million with program delivery)

Origin: 1953
Delivery Method: Radio (FM, satellite), TV (affiliates), Website and Mobile Site (Armenian, Russian, English languages), Social Media, Mobile App
Radio Original Programming: 20.6 hours/week
Radio Total Broadcast: 38 hours/week
Television Original Programming: 7 hours/week
Television Total Broadcast: 7 hours/week

RFE/RL’s Armenian Service is seen as a surrogate media source for independent news and information about events happening in Armenia. The broadcaster has become the top source of live video coverage of key political and social happenings in Armenia. The broadcaster has become the top source of live video coverage of key political and social developments in the country, thanks to investment in internet streaming technology and its ability to cover news without censorship and control (unlike its competitors). The service also facilitates peer-to-peer dialogue and works to serve as a bridge between people and the government. Uncensored political talk shows, such as the service’s “Crossroad of Opinions,” are not otherwise available in the local market; this show is one of the most popular political talk shows in Armenia and has featured guests ranging from the prime minister, mayor of Yerevan and a majority of members of the Armenian government, as well as key opposition leaders. Other sample programs include: “News Center,” the Armenian Service’s flagship evening news program broadcast live online and on its YouTube channel; “Exclusive,” a TV show featuring interviews with top Armenian newsmakers; and “Crossroads of Opinions,” a Saturday evening political talk show offered via radio and video webcast.

RFE/RL NORTH CAUCASUS LANGUAGES SERVICES (LANGUAGES: AVAR, CHECHEN, CIRCASSIAN)

FY 2015: $1.320 million ($1.377 million with program delivery)

Origin: 2002
Delivery Method: Radio (SW, satellite), Websites and Mobile Sites, Social Media, Mobile Apps
Radio Original Programming: 7 hours/week
Radio Total Broadcast: 14 hours/week

RFE/RL’s North Caucasus Languages Service reports news in a violent region where media freedom and journalists remain under severe threat. RFE/RL is the sole international broadcaster transmitting in the Avar, Chechen and Circassian languages. It is the only news service providing objective coverage of the ongoing, low-level insurgency, reporting not just statements by government agencies, but also on the views of insurgency commanders and the relatives of civilian victims. The service produces unique, 20-minute daily news programs in each language. Each daily 20-minute segment is comprised of a 3-minute news cast followed by three or four reports on key local, Russian and international stories plus billboards and promos. The service is the only Chechen-language media outlet to provide in-depth coverage of human rights abuses by the police and security forces, social taboos and the ongoing efforts by Chechnya’s current leader to rewrite the history of the past two decades. Additionally, the service broadcasts a special Sunday rubric in Avar called “Religion and the World,” which focuses on topics related to religious extremism and provides a forum for dialogue between religious communities and a platform for moderate voices.

RFE/RL RADIO AZATLIQ (LANGUAGES: TATAR, BASHKIR, CRIMEAN TATAR)

FY 2015: $846,000 ($846,000 with program delivery)

Origin: 1953
Delivery Method: Radio (satellite), Website and Mobile Site, Social Media, Mobile App
Radio Original Programming: 3.5 hours/week
Radio Total Broadcast: 3.5 hours/week

The Tatar-Bashkir Service is the only major international news provider in the Tatar and Bashkir languages covering religious, sectarian, ethnic, cultural, historical and identity issues in an environment heavily dominated by the Russian press. The service aims to serve as a bridge between Tatar communities in Russia, Crimea and the world. Using its website as the primary delivery platform, the service targets its programming at people living in Tatarstan and Bashkortostan, as well as in neighboring areas. The service provides a platform for free discussion of critical issues, such as identity and the peaceful coexistence of various ethnic and religious communities, which are the vital basis for developing and nourishing civil society and democratic institutions in the region. The service’s website provides a public platform for virtual meetings, enabling users to discuss issues including Russia’s policy toward ethnic and religious minorities; centralization; corruption; the role of Islam in predominantly Muslim regions; Islam’s compatibility with Western values and institutions; and gender issues. The service also produces a special program highlighting user-generated content called “People’s Word,” which features analysis and commentary from outside contributors to promote a spirit of discussion and tolerance of other views.

RFE/RL RADIO AZATLYK (LANGUAGE: TURKMEN)

FY 2015: $617,000 ($719,000 with program delivery)

Origin: 1953
Delivery Method: Radio (SW, satellite), Website and Mobile Site, Social Media, Mobile App
Radio Original Programming: 5.5 hours/week
Radio Total Broadcast: 56 hours/week
Radio Azatlyk works to offer Turkmen-speaking audiences professional and locally sourced information about themselves and their society. It is the only international media broadcaster operating in Turkmenistan and providing news from inside the country with original video reporting and photojournalism on human rights and civil society, key developments, topics concerning freedom of the press and expression, and reports on religious and ethnic minorities. The service does not have a bureau in Turkmenistan and the freelancers who work with it risk their lives and livelihoods to send in reports. But the service’s impact is clearly demonstrated by audience calls, emails and citizen journalism reports, as well as by the reactions of the Turkmen government. In one case in February 2016, the service highlighted the plight of residents of several villages in Balkan province, who complained about being disconnected from the communication system of Turkmenistan. The remote district was also not within range of cellphone signals. As a result, authorities recently started launching telephone lines in the area.

VOA’s Russian Service employs a digital-first, cross-platform strategy to inform, engage and connect the information denied Russian-speaking audiences and offer fact-based alternative to the Kremlin’s misinformation campaigns designed to fan anti-U.S. and anti-Western sentiments both in Russia and globally. VOA Russian Service’s interactive multimedia content includes video streaming on desktop and mobile platforms, social media native products, expert blogs and user-generated content and feedback. It serves to engage audiences in conversations about America and its values while offering insights into U.S. policy, life and institutions, including U.S.-Russia relations and American reactions to developments impacting Russian democracy. Consumers of the VOA Russian digital properties are active and engaged. On branded websites, they read more than 2 million articles and view 500,000 video clips every month. On Facebook, the service has 120,000 actively engaged followers who view close to 1 million native videos weekly. The service’s Twitter handle is followed by more than 190,000 users. This digital presence is complemented by increased programming on television, the dominant media platform among Russian speakers. In 2014, VOA Russian partnered with RFE/RL to launch “Current Time,” a joint production undertaken in partnership with regional public and private media outlets. The “Current Time” branded content includes a variety of digital efforts and a daily 30-minute TV program, which is aired in nine countries via 25 media outlets and is available to digital audiences worldwide. Other sample programs include: “Briefing,” a 10-minute daily digest of short, native video reports on trending topics in the United States, Russia and globally; “Election Review,” a weekly wrap of major developments on the U.S. presidential campaign trail; “Lexicon” a product designed to explain American political jargon to Russian-speaking audiences; “U.S. News in 60 Seconds,” a video product with quick daily updates on the latest news in America; “Made in USA,” a weekly video feature about American people and their lives; and “Hollywood Boulevard,” a weekly video feature showcasing the latest releases from the American movie industry. VOA Russian serves as a Washington, D.C. and New York bureau for the few remaining independent media outlets in Russia. The service provides live daily reports from the NYSE to the Russian Business Channel and also provides live remotes and special reports to Dozhd TV, RTVi and Israeli Channel 9. According to the 2015 Gallup World Poll national survey, VOA’s measured total weekly audience in Russia in any language was 3.2 percent of all adults (15 or older). This figure is up from 1.7 percent of adults reached weekly in 2013.

VOA Ukrainian is the leading international broadcaster in Ukraine acting as a de facto Washington bureau for four major national television channels: Channel 5, First National TV, ICTV and Channel 24. With a weekly audience of 18.3 percent of the Ukrainian adults, VOA Ukrainian is consistently rated among the most credible, trustworthy and influential sources of news, information and analysis regarding U.S.-Ukrainian relations, U.S. policy and American life. The programming is an important counter-narrative to mass audiences in the country, which is targeted by an aggressive anti-Western misinformation campaign sponsored by Russia. Sample programs include: “Chas-Time”, a daily, 15-minute TV news and information program; “Studio Washington,” a five-minute, daily news capsule for Russian-speaking Ukrainians; “Prime Time with Myroslava Gongadze,” a weekly newsmaker interview program; and “Window on America,” a weekly 20-minute magazine program. The Ukrainian Service also produces special reports and live interactives on a variety of subjects for Ukraine’s top-rated networks ICTV, First National and 1+1 TV. In addition to more than 6.7 million adult TV viewers every week, VOA Ukrainian’s digital desktop, mobile and social media presence engaged more than 6 million users in fiscal year 2015. On Facebook, VOA Ukrainian has more than 55,000 followers. It is followed by 80,000 Twitter users and the host of VOA’s flagship TV program, Myroslava Gongadze, has more than 75,000 followers. The service’s digital content is syndicated to some of the most popular websites in the target area—Pravda.com.ua, Ukr.net and Maidan.org—while video production is also available via a branded YouTube channel. VOA Ukrainian journalists actively use social media, particularly Facebook and Twitter, to engage the strategic audience, especially youth.

The VOA Turkish Services produces content for the internet and television. Television broadcasts are carried by a leading news network in Turkey, TGRT Haber. The TGRT News television network is the seventh largest in Turkey and now carries five live, 15-minute VOA Turkish newscasts, Monday through Friday, and a 30-minute magazine program each week. VOA Turkish also presents, Monday through Friday, a daily five-to-10 minute live webcam report for the affiliate. News and interviews broadcast by VOA Turkish are frequently redistributed in the Turkish media and the service receives substantial audience feedback from Turkey, Cyprus, Germany, other European countries, the United States and the Caucasus. Through the “Washington Bureau” concept, VOA Turkish service staff frequently provides commentary, analysis and background information on major Washington news events. Radicalism is a major problem and many extremist Islamist groups are currently active in many parts of the country. Turkey’s status as both an Daesh target and a hub for Daesh cells has made VOA Turkish’s coverage of such news stories even more important. The Turkish government has increased pressure on the media and the issue of press freedom has become a major concern for the U.S. and European institutions. The service produces both audio and video products for the internet that include a wide variety of topics: Turkish-American relations, civil rights, press and internet freedom, U.S. policies, Turkish and global economic issues (e.g., unemployment, price hikes and food prices), health, education, environment, arts and entertainment. VOA Turkish also has an affiliation agreement with Mynet, one of the top three most popular news and entertainment portals in Turkey with more than 6.5 million registered members. VOA Turkish has web and mobile sites, a Facebook fan page, Twitter, YouTube, Google+ accounts, and sends a daily newsletter to more than 3,000 subscribers. The service also maintains 5 blogs.

Successfully leveraging television and increasingly popular digital media platforms, VOA’s Albanian Service continues to inform, engage and influence far more people than any other international broadcaster in Albania, Kosovo and the Albanian-speaking areas of Macedonia, Serbia and Montenegro. The service plays a crucial role in bringing the audience unbiased, objective and comprehensive news about the world and the region. It also communicates America’s democratic experience and U.S. foreign policy objectives in a region still vulnerable to internal and external destabilizing forces, including violent extremism. According to the 2015 Gallup World Poll national survey, VOA Albanian TV and digital content reaches an estimated 59.7 percent of adults (15 or older) every week in Albania, 61.6 percent of adults in Kosovo, and 9.3 percent of all Macedonian adults. VOA Albanian signature TV daily news program “Ditari,” is carried by 19 TV affiliates in Albania, 11 in Macedonia, nine in Kosovo, two in Montenegro and one in Serbia. The service provides special reports for two top-rated affiliates in Albania, News24 and Top Channel, which largely focus on U.S. perspectives on developments affecting the region. While focusing on television, the news medium of choice for Albanian-speaking audiences, VOA Albanian journalists also interact with engaged digital audiences that, in 2016, viewed more than 3 million video clips on the service’s Facebook page and another 110,000 on its YouTube channel, every month. VOA Albanian’s Facebook pages is followed by more than 175,000 Facebook users, representing a generation of future influencers.

The VOA Macedonian Service is the most widely distributed source of news, information and analysis on U.S. foreign policy, U.S. interests and American life that is available to Macedonian-speaking television audiences in the Balkans. The added value that the service brings to the Macedonian media scene is its original and exclusive reporting, providing a panoptic view on U.S. policies and expert opinions on Macedonia’s Euro-Atlantic prospects, thus promoting peace, freedom and democracy and explaining U.S. foreign policy interests in the volatile Balkan region. According to 2015 World Poll data, VOA content, distributed via TV affiliates and online, reaches more than 20 percent of adults in Macedonia every week. It also contributes to the audience’s understanding of current events and of American views and policies in the heavily politicized media market targeted by aggressive, pro-Kremlin media. VOA Macedonian reporting is frequently reprinted and rebroadcast by local media. Every week, the service engages more than 42,000 website visitors and nearly 15,000 users of an increasingly popular Facebook page. As such, VOA Macedonian plays a critical role by modelling media behaviour in democracy. VOA Macedonian’s flagship TV program is the 10-minute “Newsflash,” which airs nationwide, Monday through Friday, on Alfa and 24 Vesti channels, and on a number of regional and local TV stations throughout the country. The program focuses on news from the United States pertinent to the target audience, including coverage of the Macedonian diaspora. Since April 2016, the service also provides live remotes to Telma TV, a nationwide network.

OSCE Vienna

The Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE) is based in Vienna, Austria and has 16 active field offices. The OSCE currently has 57 participating countries including the U.S. and 11 cooperating partner countries. Together they represent more than a billion people in North America, Europe and Asia. Considered the world’s largest and most comprehensive regional security organization, the OSCE is a major forum for discussing and taking action on issues of peace, security and human rights in Europe and Central Asia. Collective security and stability are sought through consensus-based agreements. The U.S. Mission to the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe (USOSCE) consists of a multi-agency team with more than thirty staff members from the Department of State and the Office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as well as the joint Congressional/Executive Branch Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe (“Helsinki Commission”).

USEU Brussels

The European Union (EU) was created on November 1, 1993. With its headquarters in Brussels, Belgium, the EU serves as a regional economic and political association of European countries with internal free trade and common external tariffs. There are 28 member states, 16 of which use the common currency unit, the euro. The terms European Economic Community (EEC) and European Community (EC), which identified its forerunner organizations continue to be used loosely to refer to what is now the EU. The U.S. has maintained diplomatic relations with the EU and its forerunners since 1953.

USNATO Brussels

Formed in 1949 with the signing of the Washington Treaty, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) is a security alliance of 28 countries from North America and Europe including the U.S. An additional 22 countries participate in NATO’s Partnership for Peace (PP) program. Membership is open to “any other European state in a position to further the principles of this Treaty and to contribute to the security of the North Atlantic area.” There is also a Membership Action Plan (MAP), which offers aspiring members practical advice and targeted assistance. NATO’s fundamental goal is to safeguard the Allies’ freedom and security by political and military means. Its headquarters is in Brussels, Belgium. The U.S. Mission to NATO represents U.S. foreign policy interests within the Alliance. The U.S. Mission is a multi-agency team of more than 150 people that includes personnel from the Department of State, the Department of Defense and others. The Public Affairs Section has a staff of eight, including six Foreign Service Officers (FSO) and two eligible family members (EFM).
